MR. POE'S LAST POEM.

Edgar Allen Poe, who died in Baltimore, on the 7th ult., was one of the most remarkable of the literary men of the United States. We give below the last poem of this lamented genius. He was the greatest master of the mere art of composition, which this country, or perhaps any other, has produced. We need not point out the exceeding beauty of this plaintive melody, this quiver of the lyre as the death angel swept it, this parting beam as the sun of his genius set in a night which for us will have no dawning.

ANNABEL LEE.

It was many and many a year ago,
In a kingdom by the sea
That a maiden there lived whom you may know
By the name of Annabel Lee;
And this maiden she lived with no other thought
Than to love and be loved by me.

I was a child and she was a child,
In this kingdom by the sea,
But we loved with a love that was more than love—
I and my Annabel Lee—
With a love that the winged seraphs of heaven
Coveted her and me.

And this was the reason that, long ago,
In this kingdom by the sea,
A wind blew out of a cloud, chilling
My beautiful Annabel Lee;
So that her highborn kinsmen came
And bore her away from me,
To shut her up in a sepulchre
In this kingdom by the sea.

The angels, not half so happy in heaven,
Went envying her and me—
Yes!—that was the reason (as all men know,
In this kingdom by the sea)
That the wind came out of a cloud by night,
Chilling and killing my Annabel Lee.

But our love it was stronger by far than the love
Of those who were older than we—
Of many far wiser than we—
And neither the angels in heaven above,
Nor the demons down under the sea,
Can ever dissever my soul from the soul
Of the beautiful Annabel Lee.

For the moon never beams, without bringing me dreams
Of the beautiful Annabel Lee;
And the stars never rise, but I feel the bright eyes
Of the beautiful Annabel Lee:
And so, all the night-tide, I lie down by the side
Of my darling—my darling—my life and my bride,
In her sepulchre there by the sea—
In her tomb by the sounding sea.

The following are the beautiful words of a new Song, by Judge Meek, of Alabama, which we commend to the attention of western composers:

The golden bowl is broken,
That held love's rosy wine;
The last fond words are spoken,
That hailed thee once as mine:
We're fated now to sever,
Yet, on the land or sea,
By day or night, forever,
My heart will kneel to thee!
Though the golden bowl be broken,
My heart will kneel to thee.

The silver chord is silent,
That thrilled beneath thy hand;
As in some desert island,
Amid my hopes I stand!
But yet where'er I wander,
Thy beauty I shall see,
And as the past I ponder,
My heart will kneel to thee!
Though the silver cord is silent,
My heart will kneel to thee!

Oh! each inperfect token
Is vain my love to tell;
Though the golden bowl be broken,
And the silver cord as well;
Fond memory will cherish
The dreams so dear to me,
And, till each pulse shall perish,
My heart shall kneel to thee!
Though the golden bowl be broken,
My heart will kneel to thee!

The Tranced Child at Bangor.—Readers probably remember the story of the little girl at Bangor, who apparently died of cholera, but revived, and said that she had been to heaven, where she saw her mother, and where she was to go again on the following Sunday. The Bangor Whig of the 12th gives the sequel, as follows:

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. Daniel Warren, a very worthy religious man who has been much among the cholera patients feeling, perhaps, moved by curiosity, called to see the little girl, and addressing her cheerfully, told her that she appeared better and would soon be well, and get out in a day or two.

"But I'm going back to mother again at four o'clock," she quietly and softly said.

"When to-morrow?"

"No to-day."

Mr. Warren endeavored to turn her attention to hopeful prospect of recovery but the little sufferer was fast sinking away—the death-rattle was heard, and she soon ceased to breathe, her pulse stopped, and the fixedness of death was impressed upon her beautiful countenance. She was dead. Mr. Warren looked at the town clock in the distance from the window, for there was no clock in the house, and it was four o'clock.

While pondering upon, to him, the singular coincidences in this case, and about a half an hour had passed, new signs of life appeared, and again the spirit of the sweet girl returned. She asked for water, and said she was tired and sunk away into a quiet sleep.

Since then she has been gradually recovering, but the elder sister, who watched her so tenderly, and who would willingly have accompanied her to live with her mother in heaven, was the next day taken with the cholera, and the following day, died and was buried.

M. M. Noah, in speaking of the Abolition and Old Hunker coalition in N. York, says:

"When the Lord forbade the Isrealites yoking an ox and an ass together, what was his reason? That they should not compel the industrious animal to do all the work, while the lazy beast was vicious and idle, and refused to draw. He had another reason. He prohibited yoking a clean and unclean beast together.—When did the old republicans nominate honest candidates for high office, and say to the mercenary outsiders, 'we will sacrifice those nominations to propitiate your favor, providing you will honestly sustain us?' We used to stand or fall by our nominations. We had too much confidence in the honesty of the people to form corrupt alliances. As Charles Cotesworth Pinckney said to the French Directory, 'millions for defence, but not a cent for tribute.'"

GIN MANUFACTORY.

THE undersigned, thankful for the patronage hitherto bestowed upon him, takes this method of infoming the public generally, and Planters in particular, that he still continues the manufacture of

at his old establishment, one mile south-west of Washington. His Gins are manufactured of the best material, in a superior manner, and will be sold on accommodating terms. For evidences of their superiority, he respectfully refers to the following gentlemen, and all others, who have used them:

Block, Brother & Co., E. S. Johnson & Co., Fulton; A. Block & Son, Trimble & Johnson, Washington; Walker & Cheatham, Columbus; Hon. E. Cross, H. A. Blevins, Maj. Jno. W. Paup, E. J. Smith, and W. M. Coulter, Hempstead county; A. J. Armstrong, W. Nunnelly, B. C. Phillips, and others, Sevier county; Capt. R. H. Finn, Janes Trigg, Col. Wm. Wynn, Maj. M. Wright, and Morgan Cryer, Esq., Lafayette Co.; Jarret Janes, Geo. Brinlee, Thos. Ferguson, H. S. Janes, and E. & H. Runnells, Bowie county, Texas.

WESTERN MILITARY INSTITUTE,

GEORGETOWN, KY.

BOARD OF VISITORS.

The Adjutant General, together with five fit persons, to be annually appointed by the Executive to attend examinations at least once in the year, according to law.

FACULTY.

Incorporated with all the powers, privileges and rights exercised by the Trustees and Faculty of any other College.

*Col. T. F. Johnson, General Superintendent.
*Col. E. W. Morgan, Joint Superintendent, and Professor of Engineering and of Natural History.
*Lieut. Col. B. R. Johnson, Professor of Natural and Experimental Philosophy.
†Maj. W. A. Forbes, Professor of Mathematics.
Richard N. Newell, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages.
James G. Blaine, A. B., Adjunct Professor of Languages.
Rev. J. R. Swift, A. M., Professor of Ethics and Belles Lettres.
James H. Daviess, Esq., Professor of Law.
Rev. H. V. D. Nevius, A. M., Principal of the Academy.
Capt. C. E. Mott, Teacher in the Academy.
Capt. W. W. Gaunt, Adjutant of the Institute.
*Educated at West Point †Educated at the Virginia Military Institute.

Two hundred and thirty Cadets, from fifteen different States, have entered this Institution since it was organized, in 1847. It is entirely free from the control or domination of any sect or party, either political or religious. Economy in dress, by the adoption of a cheap Uniform, for winter and summer, is rigidly enforced. Every student is required to select a College guardian, with whom all funds brought or received must be deposited, and no debt must be contracted without the consent of such guardian.

An Institution combining the science of the West Point Academy and Polytechnic Institutes, with the classical literature of our best Colleges, adding the modern languages, and superadding practical schools of Law and Engineering, nearly realizes the long felt desideratum of a university able to meet the wants of Western progress—a university where all may select a course of study to suit their time, means and professional destination.

Mr. Daviess, the Professor of Law, is known in the various courts as a practitioner of great ability, varied learning, long experience and exalted character. His eminent qualifications, the wholesome exercise and discipline of the Institute, and the convenient observation of the forms of judicial proceedings, offer unusual inducements to those who are earnest to achieve distinction as sound lawyers.

CIVIL ENGINEERING

Will be thoroughly and practically taught in the Western Military Institute—the Professor, Col. Morgan, being one of the most skillful and experienced Engineers in the United States. All the instruments connected with that department have been procured at considerable cost, and of the best quality.

The Superintendent takes the liberty of stating that he is now offered $75 per month, for competent assistant Engineers. One of his former pupils receives at this time, $2,500 per annum, as Principal Engineer of a railroad now under construction in Kentucky—whilst others of the same class are receiving in different parts of the United States, $2,000, $1,500, or $1,200 a year as Assistant Engineers.

The time is rapidly approaching when there will be a great demand for such as have been prepared, for that vocation, at the Western Military Institute. Nothing is hazarded in saying that they will readily command $1.200 or $1,500 per annum. Every man of observation must see that the gigantic enterprises already proposed, will give birth to hundreds of others, tributary to them. The rapid advancement of our whole country, and the eagerness of our people for exploring the hidden resources of the new States and the newly acquired territory, will give ample scope for ages to come, to the skill and enterprise of the Engineer, the Geologist, the Mineralogist, the Surveyor and the Architect. Young men who have an aptitude for the Mathematical and Physical sciences, will have a wide field opened to them for engaging in an honorable, a healthful and a lucrative pursuit, for which they may be thoroughly and practically qualified, in a short time, and at small expense, at the Western Military Institute.

TERMS.

In the Academy, - -	$30 00	per annum.
In the College, - -	40 00	" "
For Music and use of Arms and Accoutrements, -	3 00	" "
For Fuel, - - - -	2 00	" "

BOARDING can be had in private families, at from two to two and a half dollars a week. When in Barracks, it is designed to furnish Commons at a uniform rate. Students from a distance will be required to board at the Institute, and to have no communication with the town, except as allowed by written permits.

The next session will commence on the first of September, and continue ten months.

FEMALE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

GEORGETOWN, KY.

FACULTY.

T. F. Johnson, A. M., Principal and Professor of Mathematics.
Elder J. R. Swift, Professor of Moral and Intellectual Science.
R. N. Newell, A. M., Professor of Ancient and Modern Languages.
Charles Fritz, Esq., Professor of Instrumental and Vocal Music.
Misses C. Stanwood, H. B. Stanwood and C. Langdon, Assistants.

The Principal has been teaching twenty years, uninterruptedly, having occupied important Professorships in several Colleges in Virginia, (his native State,) and Kentucky.

Mr. Swift graduated at Yale College, and has become eminent as a teacher.

Mr. Newell graduated in the city of Paris, and has filled the chair of Languages in several Colleges of high repute.

Mr. Fritz, a German gentleman of fine acquirements, has been connected with this Institution six years, and has turned out some of the best performers on the Piano to be found in the United States.

The Misses Stanwood graduated at the celebrated Female Seminary at Ipswich, Mass. The elder has been Principal Assistant in this Institution for the last eight years. Miss Langdon has been a very popular teacher in Cincinnati and Kentucky for six years past; the last two years in this Institution.

The Female Collegiate Institute was organized in 1838, and has enjoyed without any fluctuations an unusual share of public favor, averaging for the ten years past about one hundred pupils.

It is furnished with a fine Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a Select Library, &c., and affords unusual facilities to students of Music, French, Spanish and the like. It is entirely free from all the sectarian bias—the pupils being permitted to attend any place of worship prescribed by their parents, and the teachers belonging to four or five different denominations.

To prevent competition in Dress, clothing of a uniform style and quality has been prescribed, and Jewelry of every description prohibited.

Vacation holds from Christmas to the 1st of March; but those pupils who remain through the vacation, are as regularly instructed, if desired, as during term time. All pupils from a distance are required to board at the Institute, under the immediate supervision of the teachers.

The Principal might refer to hundreds of prominent individuals throughout the western and south western States, but he presumes it to be entirely unneccessary, after having taught at the same point, with the most signal success, for nearly 20 years.

Georgetown is accessible by daily stages and steamboats from Louisville and Cincinnati. It is 17 miles from Frankfort, and is admitted to be one of the healthiest locations on the globe.

TERMS.

Per session, for Board and Tuition, -	$80
For Music, - - - - - - - -	$25
For French, &c., &c., - - - - -	$10

[There are many female seminaries in the west, in which the expenses of a pupil may be $10 or $20 per session less than the above; but, in very few of these, it is confidently asserted, will the fare be found so good—the capital invested so large—and the reputation of the teachers so distinguished.] [july 11,-'49-1y.
