ADAMS' WHARF, Selma, Ala.

THE subscriber begs leave to announce to his friends and the public generally, that he has established a new WHARF for receiving Goods, &c. at the end of Bow street just below the Ferry landing. Having heretofore received a liberal share of patronage, (for which I feels thankful) he hopes and expects a continuance of the same.
He will at all times be enabled to engage wagons to forward merchandise received by and stored with him, into the interior, whenever he may receive orders so to do. [ap26 cmo] JAMES ADAMS.

DENTISTRY.

DR. LEE'S NERVE will give immediate relief to the most acute TOOTH ACHE, when it proceeds from an exposed nerve. It will also entirely destroy the nerve so that the tooth may be plugged and again be useful, without any pain whatever. The Nerve is perfectly free from every thing injurious to the organization of the tooth or that will discolor it.
Certificates of its efficacy, from some of the most respectable citizens, may be seen at the OFFICE southeast corner of Royal and Dauphin-streets, over Gregory's Exchange, entrance on Royal-st.
☞Every operation in Dental Surgery performed upon the latest improved principles and warranted to last. mh21 94tf

THE FRENCH LANGUAGE—Mons. A. GODEFROY is now ready to organize classes in French, after a new system of his own, and also partly after the Robertsonian system. For terms, &c., apply to A. Godefroy at his recitation room Conti street, No. 21, from 10 o'clock AM. till 5 PM. Ladies will be punctually attended to at their respective residences.
N. B.—Mons. G. from his long experience is able to teach learners from any French system whatever, and will always endeavor to suit the taste of his pupils. His zeal and unremitted attention, he hopes will secure for him a share of former patronage.

Mons. A. GODEFROY, a French gentleman now residing in Mobile, was engaged during the last year in giving instruction in his native language, to a class of young ladies in the city of Tuscaloosa. Being one of his patrons there, I became acquainted with his method of instruction and witnessed the rapid progress made by his pupils. I take pleasure in stating of Mr. Godefroy's method (in part devised by himself) that it is superior to any other I have ever known used. His diligence in attending to the instruction of his scholars, and his unwearied zeal to communicate a knowledge of the language he professes to teach, deserves the highest commendation.
